HUNTINGTON BEACH, CA, May 14, 2018–The Ocean View School District has learned that its School Attendance Review Board, or SARB, has been awarded one of the California Department of Education's Model SARB Awards, one of only 16 honored statewide. Ocean View’s SARB provides intensive guidance and coordinated community services, beyond school site interventions, to meet the needs of students having trouble with school attendance. The District's SARB was commended for demonstrating excellent collaboration among its members, with a great inventory of services.

“We are focused on strong prevention, as well as early and intensive intervention supports for our students,” said Dr. Carol Hansen. “I am so proud of the work our School Attendance Review Board is doing to keep students in the classroom every day.”

Model SARB award winners were recognized in Fresno at the California Association of Supervisors of Child Welfare and Attendance state conference on May 9.
