

UnitedHealthCare (UHC) HMO Finding Your Primary Care Physician (PCP)

In an HMO, you must see your Primary Care Physician (PCP) first for most medical issues. Your PCP will refer you to any specialists you may need to see. When selecting your plan, remember:

- You and your dependents must enroll in the same network but can select different PCPs within that network.
- Your network election is effective for the entire year - you may change PCPs within the network but you cannot change networks until the next enrollment period.

In an HMO, you see your PCP first for most medical issues. You do not need a referral for mental health, chiropractic or OB/GYN services.
